The Job's Not Done: Help Double the Size of Waterton Lakes National Park and Complete the World's First Peace Park

July 22, 2011

Dear [member_name_first]:

We need your help. Do you have just one day this summer to spend at spectacular Logan Pass to help complete the world's first Peace Park: Waterton - Glacier International Peace Park?

Last summer Headwaters Montana sponsored volunteers at Logan Pass in Glacier National Park to collect signed post cards from visitors who support doubling the size of Waterton Lakes National Park into the Flathead Valley in British Columbia (see map here and at left). Volunteers collected the names of over 3,000 supporters last summer alone. The campaign to 'Complete the Park' and 'Protect the Flathead' now has well over 10,000 visible and vocal supporters.

Each supporter, like you, adds to the mounting inevitability of expanding Waterton Park. And while we already enjoy a super majority of supporters in south-east British Columbia and across the international boundary in Montana, we need to continue to build support to push this effort over the finish line.

The Map of the Future

The 'missing piece' of Waterton - Glacier Peace Park would double the size of Waterton Lakes National Park in Canada. The new park would cover approximately 100,000 acres (40,469 hectares) and protect some of the most important wildlife habitat remaining in the Crown of the Continent.

We can achieve a breakthrough in the next year with your help.

Can You Help?

With you helping to collect signatures at Logan Pass we will:

- Collect more signature, faster;
- Have more supporters ready to write elected officials at critical times;
- Double Waterton and Complete the Park in 2012.

Here's How You Can Volunteer

1. Choose a date to volunteer between July 25 and August 21;
2. Call Gina at 257-1122, 871-323 7 (cell) or Dave at 837-0783, or email, to sign up;

1. Expand Waterton Park into the south-east one third of the B.C. Flathead Valley;
2. Establish a Wildlife Management Area (WMA) between the international border and the Canadian Rocky Mountain parks (Banff and Jasper);
3. Ban mining and energy extraction from the entire Transboundary Flathead watershed (accomplished!).
